

The Stars Light Up the Sky!

View them and watch a movie about
rockets to the moon

A coming of age story of life in the 1950's that mixes traditional family conflicts with the earliest days of our journey into space.

8:00 -11:00 p.m.

BRING YOUR BLANKETS AND YOUR BINOCULARS, TOO!

Enjoy a summer's evening at Yucaipa Regional Park watching a movie about a boy inspired to build rockets in the mid 1950's after the first artificial satellite, Sputnik, goes into orbit ; and the internal conflict this creates within his family.

Plan to stay after the movie so you can view the stars as our naturalist explains the position of the evening stars in relationship to the planets.
